

Another possible kind of midterm problem

Find all solutions to the equation $\cos(x) = 1/2$. You may use the basic properties of unit circle trigonometry and identities involving pairs of angles. But prove by induction any property you use to describe the behavior of trigonometric functions on arbitrary angles.