Please read the following computer use guidelines carefully.

- Do not turn off the power on the computers.
- Your computer account is intended primarily for academic use. Misuse of your account may result in your account being cancelled.
- Account security is important! Change your password as soon as possible (log on and type passwd). If you suspect that someone has learned or could guess your password, change it.
- Conserve paper by using print preview programs and by reading email on the computer.
- Keep the equipment clean. In particular, keep food, drinks, and chalk dust away from terminals, mice, and keyboards.
- If you encounter problems with your account or with a specific machine, send a detailed report of the problem to consult@math.uic.edu, even if you can work around the problem!

I have read the above computer use guidelines and agree to abide by them.
