

Analysis and Applied Mathematics Seminar

Mathematics of collective behavior

Roman Shvydkoy (UIC)

Abstract: We will introduce and study a new class of models describing phenomena of alignment and flocking in systems of collective behavior. The models pose new challenges to the regularity theory of fractional parabolic systems and open a range of new problems in the analysis of PDEs.

Monday, November 27 at 4:00 PM in SEO 636